77 Greenwich, the new downtown skyscraper has recently revealed new photos of interiors by the renowned Deborah Berke Partners,.

The 42-story tower that soars above New York Harbor and Battery Park. Topping out at 500 feet, the elegant building features a pleated glass curtain wall façade that provides sprawling water views from each of the 90 residences—which begin on the 15th floor located nearly 150 feet above street level.

With the building approaching completion, developer Trinity Place Holdings is now offering a first look inside the project, unveiling a pair of elegant one- and two-bedroom homes that were furnished and styled by Deborah Berke Partners—the New York-based architecture and interior design practice known for the interiors at one of the world's tallest and most famous residential buildings, 432 Park Avenue—and are now hitting the market for $1.295 million and $2.075 million respectively.

Deborah Berke, one of New York's leading architects and designers, currently serves as the Dean of Yale's School of Architecture, where she succeeded the renowned Robert A.M. Stern.
